Boys Who Admit Burglaries Placed On Year Probation

Two 14-year-old Eldorado boys, who admitted to entering several homes in the Eldorado community and taking a number of items, were placed on probation for a year by County Judge Trafton Dennis in county court today.

The action by Judge Dennis was on recommendation of State's Attorney Robert Wilson, who stated this was the first offense for each youth and that most of the items taken had been returned to their rightful owners.

After hearing the charges read, each boy was asked if he was guilty and each answered "Yes Sir."

Before placing them on probation, under the supervision of Youth Commission representative Pete Gentry, Judge Dennis talked to the boys regarding the seriousness of their crime and what it could lead to if they continued to break in and steal.

They were urged to go on to school, to learn to respect the rights of others and grow up to be men of character. "Our most valuable possession is a good reputation and good character," Dennis declared.

The boys were accompanied in court by their parents, who thanked Judge Dennis for his actions and talk to the youths.

Joins Egypt but Says Accepts Under Protest

Country Resents Wording of Order By U. N. Official

JERUSALEM (AP)—Foreign Office sources said today Israel had accepted "under protest" an order by the United Nations which appealed to Israel and Egypt to halt their fighting before it flared into a major war.

Egypt's acceptance of the cease-fire order was announced earlier in Cairo.

The Foreign Office spokesman made it clear Israel resented the wording of the order by Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns on the grounds his cease-fire demand implied common guilt.

An Israeli military spokesman reported new attacks by the Egyptians during the night. The situation along the Gaza Strip was described as tense, but calm by morning.

Reports reaching Cairo from Ismailia, in the Suez Canal Zone, said the Egyptian high command in the eastern zone and the Canal area cancelled the leaves of all officers and men because the Army was ordered to stand by for further instructions.

An Egyptian military spokesman said the Israelis fired mortar and automatic weapons during the night at an Egyptian outpost in East Baza and that the Egyptians returned the fire in a one-hour artillery duel. No casualties were reported.

Israel, in accepting Burns' offer, made it conditional on Egypt's agreeing to an immediate halt of raiding and sabotage in Israel territory and the placing of land mines on Israeli roads. Burns replied that Egyptian acceptance of the cease-fire order answered that request.

Some confusion was developing over the time of a cease-fire. Government sources in Jerusalem said Israel would consider sunset Tuesday as deadline for cessation by Egypt of the week-long hostilities.

In Tel Aviv a military spokesman announced the Egyptians had attacked an Israeli military camp after that deadline passed.

In Cairo Col. Salah Gohar, director of Palestine affairs of the Ministry of War, said he knew nothing about the reported earlier deadline and that he telephoned Gaza which also had not heard. Egypt accepted the proposal for a cease-fire at 6 p. m. today.

Arthur Lourie, deputy director general of the Israeli Foreign Office, sent a letter to Burns protesting against the wording of his cease-fire order on the ground it blamed Israel as much as Egypt for the series of clashes.

Other guests at last night's meeting were Past Governor Ray Harper of Metropolis, who made a short address; Lt. Governor Ray Owens of the Marion club, who stressed observance plans by Kiwanis clubs of city-fair week; Hubert Fulkerson of the Marion club and Clarence Aldridge, Harrisburg, guest of Dan Davis, president of the local club.

Milligans Buy Butner House at 16 W. Lincoln

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Milligan of Equality have bought the beautiful two-story house at 16 West Lincoln street, owned by Mrs. Mildred Butner and daughter, Betty, which the Milligans will occupy soon as a residence.

The property was put up for sale through George Lazich, local real estate broker, following the death of the late Dr. A. J. Butner, and Mr. Lazich advertised it thru Daily Register classifieds.

Mr. Milligan, who operates the Milligan Coal Yard, and is another Daily Register classified user, read the ad and bought the house.

Gloria Takes Her $16,000, Goes Home; Marine Cooking

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP)—"I'd rather go away Gloria, the underfed champion than Gloria the foolish little girl who lost out."

With those words, perky Gloria Lockerman, the 12-year-old Negro spelling champ from Baltimore, explained her bow-out from CBS-TV's "The $64,000 Question" and retired $16,000 richer today.

Marine Capt. Richard Sherrill McCutchen, another contestant on the big give-away show, correctly waded through a food-and-cooking query to reach the $16,000 level and earn a possible shot next week at $32,000.

Gloria, a ninth grade student, had held TV audiences spellbound for three weeks by threading her way through such orthographic toughies as "belligerent," "astigmatic" and "antidistastibleness."

Tuesday night, Gloria was offered the chance of doubling her winnings of last week to $32,000. She and her grandmother, Mrs.

Bertha Key of Baltimore, who has acted as Gloria's guardian on the show, turned the chance down.

"The Lord has been very, very good to Gloria," said Mrs. Key, "and I've decided we'll stop right here."

Money Put In Trust
The producers of the show announced that $15,500 of Gloria's winnings would be placed in a trust fund for her education. The other $500 was given to Gloria to spend as she pleased.

She also was presented with a TV set, a bicycle, a tape recorder and a subscription to her favorite comic magazine.

McCutchen, a career officer, correctly answered a question dealing with the geographical origin and composition of various breads. They were: tortillas—Mexico or Central America, cornmeal; pumpernickel—Germany, coarse bolted rye; pone—Indian and southern United States, corn; graham bread—United States, whole wheat; and bannock—Scotland, wheat, barley or oats.

Gardner Tells Work of School Superintendent Described as Big Business in Address At Kiwanis Club

Many of the various tasks performed by the office of the county superintendent of schools and several of the problems faced in the office were described by Raymond Gardner, new county superintendent of schools, last night at a meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Masonic temple.

Schools were described by Mr. Gardner as big business with more than a half million dollars of state aid funds distributed to the school districts in Saline county by the office of Superintendent Gardner.

Two new laws passed by the State Legislature require loyalty oaths by all teachers and employees in the schools and also require annual tuberculosis tests by the teachers, Mr. Gardner stated. Other requirements are the teaching of drivers' training and a nine-month school program.

One of the costly programs in the schools of the county is the transportation of pupils requiring many miles of travel by the school buses to pick up the rural students.

Another special guest at the Kiwanis meeting last night was Eltis Henson, new principal at the Harrisburg Township high school.

He praised the school systems here and stated he hoped to continue the prestige which the HTS has enjoyed for so long. He stated he has found warm friendship here and praised the fine churches and schools here in Harrisburg.

Other guests at last night's meeting were Past Governor Ray Harper of Metropolis, who made a short address; Lt. Governor Ray Owens of the Marion club, who stressed observance plans by Kiwanis clubs of city-fair week; Hubert Fulkerson of the Marion club and Clarence Aldridge, Harrisburg, guest of Dan Davis, president of the local club.

Small Crowds Congregate to Protest Action

Leaders Call for Mass Demonstrations To Keep President

By WILLIAM L. F. HORSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Juan D. Peron today offered to resign as president of Argentina, in the interests of "political peace."

Leaders of the powerful pro-Peron General Confederation of Labor and the Peronista Party promptly called for a general strike and mass demonstrations throughout the nation to keep him in power.

Four hours after appeals were broadcast for "another October 17th revolution" to demonstrate Peron's popular support, 15,000 of his followers had gathered in the vast Plaza de Mayo in central Buenos Aires.

On previous such occasions the square, which faces Casa Rosada, the seat of the government, has been jammed with 200,000 to 300,000 wildly enthusiastic supporters.

Plan May Backfire
The appeal for another Oct. 17th revolution alluded to the 1945 uprising when workers of Argentina swarmed into the streets in riotous demonstrations which firmly established Peron in power.

In Montevideo, Uruguay, Argentine refugees said Peron's offer to resign was a calculated political maneuver designed to reinforce his weakening hold on the government through mass demonstrations. These sources said the ploy turned out in Buenos Aires indicated the maneuver may backfire.

Buenos Aires afternoon newspapers, all pro-Peronista, printed special mid-morning editions with banner headlines reading: "Peron must not go" and "Peron, yes; another, no."

The group gathered in the Plaza de Mayo was orderly. They sang "Children of Peron," a party song, and shouted "Workers with Peron" and "Our lives for Peron."

No Disorders Reported
Although there had been no disorders, shops in the main section of Buenos Aires slammed their iron shutters and stores locked their doors against the possibility of violence.

Peron's offered resignation was announced to the public by broadcast over the national radio by Hugo di Pietro, secretary general of the General Confederation of Labor, and Alejandro Leoir, president of the supreme council of the Peronista Party.

Vice President Alberto Teissiere informed the Peronista movement that he too would resign if Peron goes.

Reds Quiet On Proposal To Disarm

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Russia maintained stony silence today on American moves to carry out President Eisenhower's Geneva proposal to combine U. S. and Soviet disarmament inspection plans.

The five-nation United Nations disarmament subcommittee meeting in its third session, had before it a U. S. statement that "each nation has recognized the need for ground observers" to facilitate military inspection.

This was proposed in addition to President Eisenhower's aerial inspection and exchange of military blueprint proposals and was in line with a Soviet plan advanced last May 10.

But despite the apparent closeness between the Russian and American plans on this point, Soviet disarmament delegate Arkady A. Sobolev made no comment.

Consider New Aid Measures in East

WASHINGTON (AP)—Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson disclosed today that government officials are considering new aid measures for the areas hardest hit by the disastrous floods in the Northeast.

Peterson made the disclosure following a two-hour White House meeting on ways to repair the damage caused by torrential rains and rampaging rivers. He refused to give details of the proposed new measures.

Biggest Carrier, Forrestal, Limp Back To Port, Four Propeller Shafts Out

By CHARLES P. McMAHON

ABOARD THE CARRIER FORRESTAL (AP)—The big carrier Forrestal limped slowly back toward her Newport News, Va., port from sea trials today with two of her propeller shafts out of commission.

The 59,650-ton carrier, moving at about six knots, was scheduled to arrive in port late today, two days ahead of her originally scheduled return on Friday.

The first of the ship's propeller shafts went out of action Tuesday when a bearing "melted." The second propeller shaft was stopped Tuesday night when there were indications of more of the same trouble which was said to be improper lubrication.

A representative of the ship's builders, the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., said the trouble could develop in all of the four propeller shafts. All are of the same design.

"It's something that never happened to us before, never," he said, "I'm sure it won't ever happen again."

The flattop had been scheduled to build up to full power tests today—perhaps cutting the Atlantic at about 40 miles an hour—in the combined builders' and Navy preliminary acceptance trials.

Despite the Forrestal's difficulties, the civilian and Navy crew aboard went through a majority of the other tests successfully.

Walkouts Threaten 3 Auto Companies

Westinghouse, Airline Also Can Be Affected

Nearly 200,000 are involved; 45,000 now out in farm equipment

By United Press
Labor disputes and threatened walkouts today plagued three automobile companies, a major electrical firm and an airline.

About 136,000 workers were involved. In addition, nearly 45,000 men were idled by walkouts in the farm equipment industry.

Automobile companies affected were Chrysler, Studebaker-Packard, and American Motors. Nationwide strikes threatened against Westinghouse and against Pan American World Airways.

At South Bend, Ind., CIO United Auto Workers authorized their executive board to call a strike which would idle 9,000 men. A contract expires at midnight after several weeks of negotiation. However, there was no indication the board would call the strike.

Chrysler is Biggest
The biggest walkout threatened Chrysler. Leaders of the CIO United Auto Workers served notice that 139,000 employees would go on strike at midnight tonight in six states unless the big auto company comes up with new offers.

Simultaneously, the CIO Electrical Workers Union ordered a nationwide strike of 42,000 Westinghouse employees on Sept. 11 unless a dispute is settled at the firm's giant East Pittsburgh, Pa., plant.

In New York, a strike was threatened for any time after midnight against Pan American World Airways. Michael J. Quill, president of the CIO Transport Workers Union, said 98 per cent of the 6,000 employees involved had voted for the walkout.

187,000 Workers Involved
If all the strikes take place, a total of 187,000 workers would go off their jobs. In addition, contracts covering 24,000 American Motors Corp. employees in Michigan and Wisconsin run out Thursday and they were expected to follow the lead of the Chrysler workers.

There were some bright spots in the labor picture, however. A tentative contract agreement between the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company and the CIO International Rubber Workers Union averted a possible strike of employees in seven states.

The agreement provided a general 12-cent hourly wage boost, plus vacation, holiday and hospitalization benefits.

Farm Machinery Disputes
In the farm machinery industry, strikes continued to idle 40,000 International Harvester Co. employees and 4,475 workers in two Allis-Chalmers Co. plants. Negotiations were continuing, however, and the Allis-Chalmers talks at Milwaukee, covering 17,000 employees, were expected to reach the critical stage today.

Man Sought in Girl Shooting Found Drowned

Houser's Body in Water Hole, Dead Since Saturday

SHELBYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Lawrence Houser, 41, sought for questioning in the fatal shooting of his 15-year-old niece, was found drowned Tuesday night in an eight-foot water hole near the Kaskaskia river.

His body was partially decomposed but his mustache and sideburns were strangely neat.

Deputy Coroner Delmar Lockhart said Houser had been dead since Saturday.

That meant Houser had been lying dead in the water while a 400-man posse prowled the woods for him. Authorities had earlier feared Houser used his woodland cunning to slip through the searchers.

Police launched their search for Houser when a man wearing a mustache and sideburns was seen fleeing in a car from the home of Doris Edwards shortly after she was slain Friday at Mattoon, Ill.

Houser, a factory worker in Mattoon, left his job early Friday and did not return.

The search switched to the river bottomland north of here after a pilot spotted an abandoned car fitting the description of the one used in the escape. For five days and four nights the posse tried to flush Houser out of the wild brush.

Ernest Parks, Marion Druggist, Dies

Ernest Parks, 71, a druggist in Marion since 1913, died at 9:25 a. m. Tuesday in Barnes hospital in St. Louis, where he had been a patient since Aug. 6.

Services will be held Thursday at 3 p. m. at the Wilson-Frick funeral chapel. Rev. Thomas E. Morton, pastor of the First Christian church in Marion, will officiate and burial will be in Rose Hill cemetery.

Women Too Arduous in Giving Parking Tickets

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Five women hired to help police enforce traffic laws got too enthusiastic about their jobs—they wrote so many parking tickets the fine collection system broke down.

It was estimated that 1,000 fines went unpaid in one week, as irate motorists refused to honor tickets awarded by the "powder puff" cops. City fathers took steps Tuesday to get the collection setup back on an even keel, cutting fines from $1 to 50 cents.

College 1-way Street Ledford to Granger During School Term

College street from Ledford to Granger was declared a one-way street today by Police Chief Ross Lane, the ruling to be in effect from 7 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. daily for the next nine months—during the school term.

Traffic will move to the east only during the hours mentioned, with traffic entering College street from either Ledford or McKinley streets.

Signs making College a one-way street are being placed today and Chief Lane urged all motorists to observe the new traffic ruling.

Richard Swansey Falls, Fractures Pelvis on Galatia School Job

Richard Swansey, Harrisburg carpenter, received a fractured pelvis Tuesday afternoon in a fall while at work at the Galatia grade school.

It is reported he fell 15 feet from a scaffold to the floor of the school gymnasium. He was rushed to the Lightner hospital, where he is a patient.

Dr. N. A. Herrmann, attending physician, stated this morning Swansey had a fractured pelvis and although the injury was not serious, he would be incapacitated for several weeks.

Mr. Swansey was working on a remodeling job at the Galatia grade school at the time of the injury. T. P. Thompson and Son of Harrisburg has the contract for the school remodeling job.

The Usual Prediction: Lots of Highway Deaths over Holiday

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council estimated today that 400 Americans will be killed in traffic accidents over the three-day Labor Day holiday.

The 400 estimate called for 100 deaths more than the 300 of a normal week-end.

Council President Ned H. Dearborn commented "so the nation will have to pay a price of 100 lives for the privilege of enjoying a holiday week-end."

"This is a fearful price tag for holiday pleasure, and we just don't believe it has to be," he said.

The council estimated that more than 40 million cars will be on the roads during the period starting at 6 p. m. Friday and ending at midnight Monday.

If motorists follow a few simple rules, the council said, the extra 100 deaths and more could be eliminated.

It urged drivers to:

1. Hold down your speed. Start early so you won't have to hurry.

2. Signal your intentions with hand signals, turn indicator lights or braking lights far enough in advance so that the driver behind is not caught napping.

3. Stay in your own lane. Before changing lanes, be sure no one is coming up behind you.

4. Keep plenty of distance between you and the car up ahead. Expect the driver in front of you to do the unexpected.

Tenderness of Meat Studied at U. of Calif.

DAVIS, Calif. (AP)—At last they're going to do something about what makes one piece of meat tough and another tender.

The University of California laboratories here are making it a research project, but it may take them a time to work up to beef steak.

The scientists have picked chickens for a starter. If taste panels and laboratory tests show that heredity has anything to do with tenderness of poultry—breasts and thighs — home economics Prof. Pauline C. Paul hopes to extend the study to sheep and eventually to beef animals.

Chickens were chosen for the first studies because they are cheaper and quicker to raise than larger meat animals.

The Yale Daily News, oldest daily college newspaper in the United States, was founded Jan. 28, 1878.

First American button factory was established at Waterbury, Conn., about 1800.

HOLLYWOOD! MOVIES - TV - RADIO by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Behind the Screen: Marilyn Monroe in "The Brothers Karamazov" is with us again now that NBC-TV plans to dramatize the Russian classic this fall, it is hoped, Miss Wiggle Hips as Grushenka.

Also dreaming about Marilyn in the role is Hollywood Producer Eugene Frenke, who has a completed movie script based on the Dostoevski novel. Says Frenke, and I suspect he's right: "It's a study in passion that would be good in Oshkosh."

Reporting the NBC offer to still-on-suspension-at-Fox Marilyn, Daily Variety flipped: "The trouble with dropping names is that frequently someone picks 'em up."

MARILYN'S VOICED desire seven months ago to play Grushenka always has been labeled "just a gag" in Hollywood. But now it seems to have become a running gag that's even good in Oshkosh.

And maybe that's where it belongs—for good.

The big national magazines are not to get Gable's life story. He said "No" five months ago but he's again listening to offers. This time without comment except, "I'll think it over."

Rudy Vallee's 100,000-word autobiography, now being edited and polished by George Frazier, has some "I've never told this before" confessions by Rudy that will lift many an eyebrow. Rudy's life would make a slick film musical and that's the plan.

Eddie Cantor wants out of his telefilm series after 39 films. He's saying: "It's just too much for me."

Federal Child Labor Law Explained as Schools are Opening

CHICAGO, Ill. — With school days beginning, businessmen and farmers who hired school children during the summer vacation were urged to encourage teen-agers to go back to school.

Thomas O'Malley, Regional Director of the U. S. Labor Department's Wage and Hour Division, explained that many teen-agers may be tempted to quit school and continue work at their summer-time jobs. Others may try to work a full shift, in addition to school.

O'Malley emphasized that under the Fair Labor Standards Act — the Federal Wage and Hour Law — young workers engaged in interstate activities must be at least 16 years of age to work in general occupations and over 18 for employment in hazardous jobs, such as motor-vehicle driver or helper, elevator operator, or as operators of power-driven metal forming, paper cutting, and bakery machines. This law also prohibits the employment of minors under 16 years of age on farm jobs while schools are in session in the school district where they live while working.

Youngsters of 14 and 15 may be employed in non-manufacturing jobs, such as in office, clerical or sales work, but when schools are in session, their employment is limited to 3 hours a day or 18 hours in a week, and they may not work before 7:00 a. m. or after 7:00 p. m.

Dig Up Intact Skeleton, Call It 'Great Find'

TURIN, Iowa (AP) — Scientists today hailed as a "great find" the intact skeleton of a child believed to have been buried 7,000 to 10,000 years ago and found in a gravel pit near here.

They said that if the skeleton removed Tuesday, proved to be authentic it would rank among the most important archaeological discoveries in the new world.

The Escoffier tradition of French cooking, dining and service is being introduced to Hollywood atop the new $16,000,000 Beverly Hilton Hotel and its movietown's answer to "Let's impress 'em with lots of waiters."

L'Escoffier has waiters waiting on waiters who are waiting on waiters who are waiting on you. The plush sky room, with its panoramic view of Los Angeles and Beverly Hills, seats only 72 diners. Serving them are 58 "cuisiniers."

A NEW WAITER and a new wine arrive with every new course. Even the chefs come out of the kitchen for direct instructions. I'm no gourmet so I won't attempt to review my "preview" dinner there. But, brother, it wasn't ham on rye and I haven't seen so many waiters in one room since I reported a meeting of the local Waiters' Union.

Hollywood, town of epics, now even has an epic dinner.

Number of U. S. Motor Courts Has Doubled

CHICAGO (AP) — There are now 50,000 motor courts, nearly twice the number of 10 years ago, the Chicago Motor Club reports.

The club said the number of places offering overnight accommodations to motorists is increasing by about 1,500 a year.

In addition, hundreds of hotels have remodeled lobbies, basements and adjoining property to provide motorists with more convenient entry and parking.

The motor club said most new hotels have built-in motor lobbies.

Authority Gives Ideas on Why Rita Hayworth's Marriages Strike Snags

By ALINE MOSBY

United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Why do Rita Hayworth's marriages hit snags? A noted psychoanalyst offered one opinion today: She is the perennial "little girl" who wants to be constantly admired, loved and dominated.

With the movie colony speculating as to why Rita walked out on crooner Dick Haymes, the doctor's idea is that she is a virtual Trilby constantly seeking a dominating Svengali.

"A woman like that has a great need to be admired and loved by everyone, and the least lack of attention upsets her," he said.

"As long as these husbands are good daddies and run her life, fine—but when the chips are down, she can't take it."

A glance at Rita's romance rating shows it to be one of the most unhappy in filmdom.

The Brooklyn-born dancer of Spanish descent worked with her father until she was 16. Then she married oilman Ed Judson, nearly twice her age. Five years later she divorced him on the charge he considered her an "investment" and tried to "exploit" and "dominate" her. She even accused him of threatening her with scandal unless she paid him alimony.

Husband No. 2, Orson Welles, introduced her to "intellectual things, good music, books and conversation," friends say. Rita, they believe, liked the idea that Orson was her "teacher," but "the teaching didn't last."

But in 1947 she divorced him, complaining that "I couldn't stand his genius any more." She also complained he left her alone too much and showed little interest in her or their daughter. Friends add, "She couldn't keep up with him—he was too high-powered and had too many interests."

Next came Prince Aly Khan, but Rita found herself wed to another man who did not plan to stay constantly by her side. The prince's gambling, travels and attention to other friends caused her to seek a divorce.

As one friend says, "Rita really is rather shy and lonely. She likes her man to be with her constantly, to help her and tell her what to do. She is not a dominating person and she doesn't like to make decisions."

Some friends say she and Haymes broke up because she tired of his "Svengali treatment" in managing her career. But, on the other hand, Rita eagerly sought his advice, and appeared excited and glad about having him produce her pictures.

Driving Expert Sees License Curb

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Limitation of the number of persons who may be allowed to hold driver's licenses is on the way, according to a prediction by Charles B. Green, instructor of driver education and training at UCLA.

The number of vehicles on American highways, he pointed out, has more than doubled since 1939, from 26,000,000 to 56,000,000, and he finds it difficult to believe that the most ambitious road-building program can keep up with this rate of growth.

Green also believes that a serious gap in driver education is a lack of standardization.

"You can't teach everybody a different set of rules," he said, "and then expect them not to run into each other."

To pick up the nap in suede shoes, jackets and other suede apparel, hold a steam iron an inch above the nap and steam thoroughly, then rub gently with a stiff brush.

Small diamonds sometimes are found in meteorites.

Radford Visits Eisenhower

DENVER (AP) — Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is expected to fly here soon for a conference with President Eisenhower at the Summer White House, it was learned today.

No date has been firmly set for Radford's visit. But he definitely is expected before the Chief Executive returns to Washington from his work-and-play vacation.

There appeared to be no unusual significance to Radford's visit. It is regarded as a routine conference to keep the President up to the minute on the status of military forces and developments.

Radford made a similar visit to the Summer White House here last year.

Mr. Eisenhower remained in close touch with developments in the United Nations disarmament talks in New York, and the progress of federal relief efforts in flood-stricken eastern states.

PROGRESS SHOWN — Leading industries of Pakistan are represented in these new stamps issued recently by that country. They help mark its eighth year as a nation.

Special Session to Enact Speed Limit
A Last Resort for Governor Stratton

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Gov. William G. Stratton will call a special session of the General Assembly to enact a state automobile speed limit law only as a last resort. He first will attempt stop-gap public relations-educational program to make Illinois motorists conscious of the dangers of speeding but if that fails will call the lawmakers into session to pass a speed limit law.

He told a press conference last week he will "bear down on new legislation to curb the speeders" adding "if that fails I will call a special session." The "new legislation" includes adding 100 new policemen to the state police force and creation of a new "Division of Traffic Safety" headed by an army reserve major Robert B. Campbell, Peoria, who will be paid a salary of $8,000 a year.

Stratton said he plans to create special state police squads made up of men with an aptitude for public relations, men who will not seek to make arrests so much as educating motorists to the dangers of driving too fast. He also plans to post known bad highway areas with signs to "slow down — five persons were killed at this spot" as well as sign bearing his name requesting a reduced speed.

The Governor indicated willingness to let enactment of a new speed law go over to the regular 1957 General Assembly because he is aware of the political dangers with which a special session is fraught, the dangers being possible attempts of political foes to make political capital such as creation of legislative committee to investigate various subjects for the purpose of producing campaign issues.

Stratton said areas which might be classified as bad or dangerous because of past accident records could be between Springfield and Lake Springfield where a recent accident was caused on four-laned US 66 by a motorist passing another at 75 miles an hour; between Springfield and Jacksonville; and in the vicinity of Champaign. He also said slow drivers might bear watching.

"We'll patrol the bad areas with specially trained squads," said the Governor. "We plan to use more unmarked squad cars with policemen trained in public relations courtesy, to educate the motorists to the dangers of speeding. They will be men with the required attitude for such work. We also will use radar. If those plans don't work out I will call a special session."

The Governor told newsmen he was impressed by the experience of the state of Washington where highway accidents have been reduced by 50 per cent. He said he talked with the Gov. A. B. Langle at the recent Governors' Conference in Chicago, about the Washington safety program which included the enlisting of the voluntary co-operation of motorists to reduce speeding.

Another part of the traffic safety program, he said, will be the calling of a meeting of state and local traffic safety leaders. He said the state highways division also will make further studies of the need for more improvement at dangerous approaches to hills and curves. He is counting on the new state traffic safety division superintendent to coordinate all efforts.

Campbell, the new superintendent, will bring to his job valuable experience gained in Peoria as chairman of the Mayor of Peoria's city traffic council, which Stratton said had "great success." The governor said he is counting much on the voluntary cooperation of motorists, pointing out that the enforcement of warning signs outside city limits "is questionable."

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, East Moline, says that a study of records of automobile drivers emphasizes the need of some kind of a state law controlling speed on state highways. The study shows, he said, that a great many revocations are based on speed convictions. The state law automatically revokes a driver's license where there are three convictions in the same year.

Carpenter said that these records convinced him that speeding is the greatest contribution to accidents on state highways, adding "our experience with the driver license law recognizes that speed is one of the principal general causes." He said "if Governor Stratton finds that a special session to enact a speed limit is the answer I'll be for it."

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, East Moline, has tightened control on issuance of special license plate privileges. This has reference to free plates for disabled war veterans and for plates for members of the Illinois National Guard who pay only $1 for plates for virtue of their guard membership.

Approximately 15,000 sets of license plates are involved. There are about 12,000 members of the guard and to date this year the Secretary's automobile department has issued about 2,100 sets of special plates for disabled war veterans.

W. B. Westbrook, Harrisburg, head of the Automobile Department in Carpenter's office, said tightening of issuance of the plates was brought about by discovery that some veterans and guardsmen were getting plates for more than one car. The discovery, he said, was made through complaints by other war veterans and guardsmen who feared it might kill "a good thing."

The free plates for disabled war veterans are red, white and blue, blue numerals on a white background with the words "disabled veterans" stamped in red. In addition to being free they are valuable for parking and traffic courtesies. The plates for guardsmen are the same as regular plates except that a device is fastened to each plate to denote it was issued to a state militiaman.

Issuance of free plates—one set to an applicant—to qualified disabled war veterans, (where the disability has a war service connection) and $1 plates to militiamen is being continued but screening processes have been set up so that there will only be one set to an applicant. Veterans are screened through the Veterans Administration, and militiamen through the guard.

Disabled war veterans and guardsmen are not the only ones who have special license plates. There are special "official" plates for the Governor and other state elective officers, for legislator and for state, county and city-owned cars. A new license wrinkle are plates for amateur radio operators who pay an extra $3 to have their call letters stamped on the plates.

Robs Granite City Loan Office of $1,000

GRANITE CITY, Ill. — A bandit, who may have been armed, robbed a loan office here of more than $1,000 Tuesday.

A cashier, Miss Kaye Howard, told police she was alone in the office of the First Granite City Savings and Loan office when a young man walked in and asked for change.

She said he then held his hand in his pocket as if carrying a gun and handed her a note reading, "Give me all the money quickly and quietly."

Jap Minister Wins Support for Nation On Defense Part

WASHINGTON — Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu ends an official visit to Washington today with indications he has won for Japan a stronger role in North Pacific defense arrangements.

Informed sources said U. S. officials are trying to find a formula to meet Japan's desire to shake off its role of "junior partner" in its own defense.

These sources said Shigemitsu told officials in conferences Tuesday that if Japan gets a greater voice in the defense arrangements, he then wants an understanding on when and at what rate U. S. forces will be withdrawn.

Indiana State Police Officer Shot, Killed By Man on Highway

COLUMBUS, Ind. — Earl L. Brown, 42, an Indiana state police trooper, was shot to death today by a man walking along a highway.

His assailant was shot three times and wounded seriously by a Columbus city policeman.

The slayer was identified as Felix Joseph Donnelly Jr., 31, Garden City, Ind.

William Weddle, a city patrolman, said the man suddenly pulled a German Luger from his hip pocket and shot Brown when the two officers stopped him to investigate a complaint from a farmer.

Low Childre Feature Of Massac Co. Fair

Low Childre, one of the Grand Ole Opry's stars with the Duke of Paducah and the Carl Smith show, will be the feature of the Massac county fair opening Monday night, September 5.

The fair, which will close Saturday night, September 10 with stock car racing, is managed by Rep. Paul Powell of Vienna. The entertainment includes the Buff Hottle carnival and Jack Stalcup orchestra all the week. There will be harness racing Monday and Tuesday nights, running races and society horse show Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

This Fan Dancer Doesn't Seek Spotlight

LONDON — Fan dancer Frances Grayson walked off her job Tuesday night because the management asked her to do her strip tease under a spotlight.

"It's bad enough to have to dance about without any clothes on, without spotlights as well," she said.

The management hired another girl with less inhibitions.

Three Dangerous Criminals Escape Carthage, Mo., Jail

CARTHAGE, Mo. — A five state alarm went out today for three dangerous criminals who escaped from the antiquated Carthage jail Tuesday night.

Sheriff George Hickam identified the three as Walter E. Rich, 31, Carthage; Roy L. Reynolds, 34, alias James V. Ross Jr., Malvern, Ark.; and Joe Havercraft, 19, Louisville, Ky. Hickam said Rich recently was returned from the Missouri Hospital for the Criminally Insane at Fulton.

The three prisoners, locked together in one of four tanks in the jail, first attacked a trustee who brought them cigarettes. Jailor Henry Blanton went to investigate the noise and was struck over the shoulder with an iron bar.

Hickam said Reynolds opened a desk drawer and got a .38 caliber revolver. They locked Blanton and three trustees in a cell and Reynolds took four shots at Blanton but missed him.

Hickam said they apparently got out of town on foot since there were no reports of a stolen car.

French Send Tough Boss to Morocco

RABAT, Morocco — Gen. Pierre Boyer de la Tour, France's tough new boss of Morocco, was flying here today to seek a "reasonable and peaceful solution" of the crisis rocking the strategic protectorate.

Boyer de la Tour took off from Tunis to put France's new peace plan in effect here in the wake of the bloodiest violence that has swept North Africa in years.

He takes over as resident general from Gilbert Grandval, whose resignation was announced in Paris this morning.

Premier Edgar Faure's peace plan called for a new Nationalist-backed Moroccan government to take office by Sept. 12 to negotiate reforms which would end direct rule of the protectorate from Paris.

Contends Police Sergeant Tipped Him on Burglary

ST. LOUIS — The St. Louis Police Inspector's office is investigating a report that a police sergeant aided an ex-convict in a $20,000 home burglary.

The theft occurred Aug. 17 at the home of lumberman Roy B. Laxton, who reported that thieves had taken the money and a diamond ring from a dresser drawer.

A former convict, Robert E. Barnes, 22, was charged with the burglary in a warrant issued by the circuit attorney's office.

In a written statement to police, an associate of Barnes quoted him as saying that the police sergeant pointed out the Laxton home as being a good prospect for a burglary.

The sergeant appeared at the inspector's office Tuesday and denied the report.

General Motors Opens 23-Acre Exhibition In Chicago-Powerama

CHICAGO — "Powerama," a 23-acre exhibition of General Motors Corp. giant machinery in action opened today along Chicago's lake front. Visitors streamed through the gates to see the largest collection of power equipment ever brought together. They were even permitted to run some of it, such as a 60-foot crane and a high-speed diesel locomotive mounted so that it will "run" without moving. The show is open to the public through Sept. 25 and occupies a portion of the site where Chicago's "Century of Progress" World's Fair held sway in 1933-34. The Daily Register 25c a week by carrier boy.

Kawal Awaits 60 Candidates for Opening Football Practice at SIU Tomorrow

IMPATIENT for the start of football drills tomorrow, Southern Illinois University Head Football Coach Al Kawal inspects some equipment. It'll be issued to an estimated 60 varsity candidates today. The gridders will be wearing those pads in contact sessions the first day of drills. Southern opens season Sept. 17 against Southeast Missouri at Cape Girardeau. (Photo by SIU Photo Service)

CARBONDALE, Ill. — An estimated 60 candidates are expected to show up when Southern Illinois University sounds the call for football practice tomorrow and none of them will know less about their future than Head Coach Al Kawal. The ex-Temple University mentor who came to Southern during the summer admits he is pretty much "in the dark" as to what personnel, who to expect when equipment is issued Aug. 31, or what the coming season may hold.

"This is one year when no varsity man has a position cinched," says Kawal (pronounced like "a WALL"). "We'll be on the lookout for good freshmen and speed in the veterans. The season will be one of experimentation."

Letters of invitation have been sent to 48 pre-students throughout Illinois, a good number of whom have either already registered for the fall term or have indicated they'll be on hand Sept. 1. Others will report when school officially begins, Sept. 21.

Rounding out the total rebuilding picture on SIU's gridiron scene are a brace of new coaches to assist Kawal: E. L. "Doc" Benicini, former Murphysboro High School football coach, and 22-year-old Carman Piccone, a former star and assistant under Kawal at Temple, who is slated to become Southern's backfield coach.

Expected to form the veteran nucleus of a new Saluki team Kawal hopes will improve on last season's 2-7 record are Ed Hayes, 207-pound junior tackle from San Francisco; Wayne Williams of Du Quoin, captain of last year's squad, and a 186-pound senior end; Jack Schneider, a halfback from Glen Carbon; Jim McCann, junior guard from West Frankfort; John Gelch, 188-pound junior tackle and end, of Sesser; Jerry Hart and Ray Tabacchi of West Frankfort and Auburn, who alternated at quarterback last season; Allen Rogers, of Albion, a senior guard, and Pinckneyville's Marion Rushing, a promising sophomore, who played end his freshman year.

Two downstate freshman prospects expected to be carefully watched are Roger Buyan, a 175-pound quarterback from Dowell, and Robert Holcomb, a star fullback at Sparta.

Kawal, famed for an occupational anxiety complex which costs him about 40 pounds of weight during each season, says he has already dropped "eight or ten HARTFORD, Conn. — (AP) — Charles Gilbert reports the coincidence to beat all coincidences.

Gilbert, a musician, had an engagement to play at a resort in Moodus. A few hours before he was to leave for Moodus, he reported his car and $600 worth of instruments stolen.

He borrowed another car and some instruments and drove to the resort. In the parking lot there, he found his own car — intact.

Stratton Says If He Runs Will Be on Record

Talks with Bishop On Waterway for Cheap Hauling of Coal

By JIM KLOCKENKEMPER
United Press Staff Correspondent
SPRINGFIELD (U.P.) — Gov. William G. Stratton said yesterday "if" he runs for re-election he's not going to "make any great campaign" but will run on his record. The governor, at a news conference, gave his fullest views to date on the 1956 election picture. He gave the following answers to these questions:

1. What would be the effect of President Eisenhower's not running?

"It certainly would hurt the party... if he did run it would help the ticket all across the country as well as in Illinois," but the governor would not say it was absolutely necessary for the President to run if the Republicans are to win.

No Word From President

2. Has he had any reaction to his State Fair speech that the President be drafted and does he think Mr. Eisenhower will run?

"I haven't heard from the President directly but I certainly hope his reaction is favorable... it's much too early to say if he's going to run."

3. Will the governor and other state officers up for re-election in 1956 run as a "team" in the primary?

"I don't look for any great races in the primary... we have had a close co-operation and each state officer has a program that speaks for itself."

4. When will you announce your political plans?

Meets With Runt Bishop
"Shortly after the first of the year... and if I did run I wouldn't spend much time campaigning" but would run on the administration's record.

Shortly before the news conference, Stratton met with former Congressman C. R. (Runt) Bishop of Carterville. Stratton said they discussed plans to build a waterway on the Big Muddy River and Beau-coup Creek to provide cheap transportation for southern Illinois coal.

The governor said Bishop wanted to know if the state could provide money for initial surveys of the project which would be necessary to get federal help later. Stratton said he "encouraged" Bishop to proceed with the plan and see how much the state would have to spend.

Tortoise Shell Carving Debunked by Professor

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Writing on ice is just as satisfactory as carving your initials on a live tortoise shell.

Dr. Loye Holmes Miller, zoology professor on the University of California campus here, takes with a grain of salt those tales of tortoises that have survived for a century or so as evidenced by such initials and dates carved on their shells.

Miller has been observing desert tortoises for years and has found that such carvings disappear within a year because of the regeneration characteristics of the reptile. It simply grows a new house.

S. D. Conducts Fish Birth Control Test

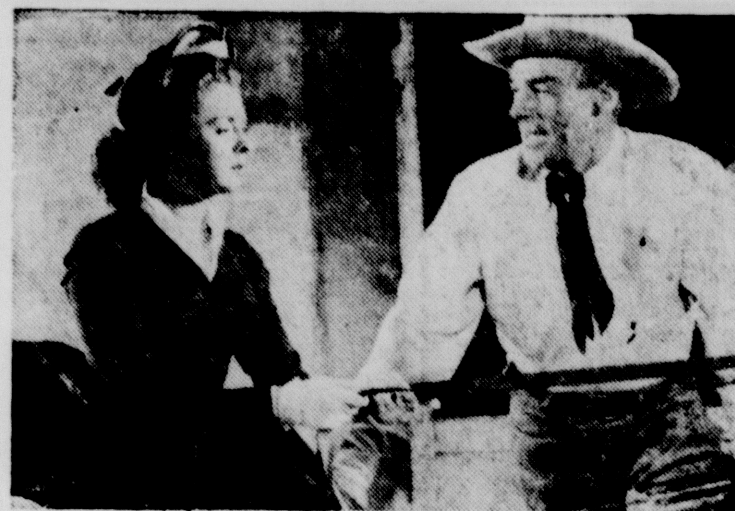

PIERRE, S. D. — (AP) — South Dakota fish biologists are engaging in a fish birth control experiment.

The experiment is aimed at reducing the number of carp, a species of rough fish, in the Ft. Randall reservoir on the Missouri River.

The biologists believe the experiment will be successful. If it is, it should mean better fishing in the reservoir.

Fish birth control involves the lowering of the level of the reservoir during the periods when the fish spawn. Lowering of the water exposes the eggs to air, killing them.

Little Chapel General Baptists Invite All To Dedication of New Building Sunday

LITTLE CHAPEL GENERAL BAPTIST CHURCH, located about five miles north of Raleigh, will be dedicated Sunday afternoon, Sept. 4, with services to start at 2 p. m. Rev. Nomas Summers, a former pastor of the church, will deliver the sermon of dedication. The church is brick exterior and the interior walls are finished in knotty pine. Rev. George Dougherty, at right, is church pastor.

Named After Former Pastor, H. T. Little, After Organization in 1936 with Ten Charter Members; At Present the Congregation Numbers Forty

Sunday, Sept. 4, will be a day long remembered by members of the congregation of Little Chapel General Baptist church as on that day their beautiful, new church building will be dedicated.

Little Chapel is located about five miles north of Raleigh, on the gravel road, in Long Branch township.

Rev. George Dougherty of Carrier Mills is pastor of the church and is completing three years of his ministry there. He has accepted a call to pastor the General Baptist church at Stonefort and dedication Sunday will be his last Sunday at Little Chapel.

Rev. Wilson Rister has been called to pastor Little Chapel and will begin his pastorate Sunday, Sept. 11.

History of Church

The following history of the church and the building program was written by Rev. Dougherty:

"Little Chapel church was organized on Sept. 9, 1936, with ten charter members. The late Rev. H. T. Little was the moderator and pastor, the church being named for him. At present there are forty members of the church.

"The church building, which was originally a school house, was moved to the present site in 1938, located on one-half acre of ground donated by Mr. and Mrs. Elias Roberts.

"God has continually blessed and increased through the leadership of eleven different pastors. This fine church has been the starting pastorate for most of the pastors.

"The building fund was started a little over two years ago, growing quickly until present building was started in July of 1954.

"Last year God's Acre plan was instituted for the first time, with men of the church and community taking part. A nice harvest of corn was gathered last fall and again this spring another crop was planted for the benefit of the church.

Much Donated Labor

"Much of the work on the new building was accomplished by donated labor. The men and women of the church especially worked faithfully to see it to completion.

"The church itself is rather complete, with full basement, automatic oil furnace, fluorescent lighting and classrooms. The women of the Sunday school have purchased a new piano and the young peoples classes bought the new pulpit and folding chairs and several individuals are buying seats, so you can see that everyone has had a large part. Much has been accomplished by the leadership of God and willing hands working together, united with no division for God's cause.

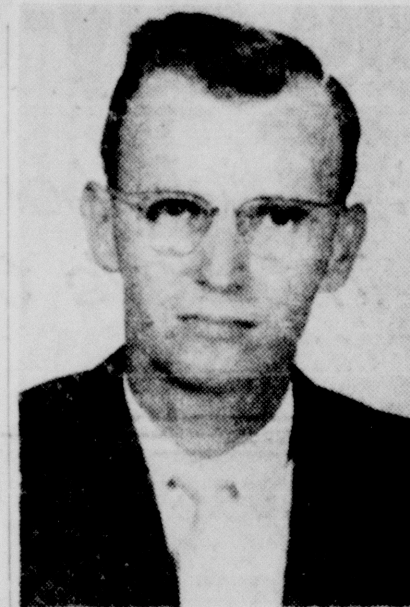

"The church earlier in the summer completed a very fine Daily Vacation Bible School with Rev. and Mrs. James Johnson of Eldorado in charge. The church also was an early enrollee in the Messenger Family plan.

"After much hard work the church will be dedicated to the Lord on the first Sunday in September, services to begin at 2 p. m.

Rev. Nomas Summers, a former pastor of the church, will bring the message of dedication. Special music will be rendered by The Pattons, the Melody Girls of Harrisburg, and The Johnson Sisters of Springfield.

An invitation is extended to everyone to attend the dedication services.

Church Officers are: Deacons, Everett Downey, Herman Anderson and Howard Woolard; Trustees, Mr. Downey, Edward Barger and Kirk Burnett; Clerk, Mrs. Edward Barger; Sunday school superintendent, Mr. Woolard; Choir director, Ernest Patton; Pianist, Mrs. Ernest Patton.

Charter members still on the church roll are Mrs. Irene Little, Mrs. Emma Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Downey.

Church pastors have been Rev. H. T. Little, Rev. Edward Ewell, Rev. Willard Harris, Rev. Albert Harris, Rev. Ned Sutton, Rev. Charles Phelps, Rev. Vernon Buchanan, Rev. Herbert Vinyard, Rev. Robert Biggerstaff, Rev. Nomas Summers and Rev. George Dougherty.

Bill Hatcher and Pete Hays Win Poster Contests

In the 11th annual National Employ the Physically Handicapped poster and illustration contest, Bill Hatcher, 125 South Jackson street, and Pete Hays, 1026 South Main, were chosen as first place winners.

The contest is conducted by the Illinois State Employment Service and the downstate area was under the supervision of Kendall Webb, local veterans employment representative. The posters were judged yesterday at the Illinois State Employment Service office, 18-20 West Poplar.

Each entry told a story with pictures or words emphasizing employment of the physically handicapped and were judged on appeal, originality of idea, artistic arrangement and neatness.

Bill Hatcher, 18, was first place winner in Class I, which was from the Harrisburg Township high school. Other winners in Class I were Nancy Pankey, 15, 106 West Lincoln, second place; Patricia Foster, 16, 414 West Poplar, third, and Benny Parks, 15, 106 North Jackson, honorable mention.

Class II included entries from students at the Harrisburg Junior high school. Pete Hays, first place winner, is 12 years of age. Second place winner was Robert Harmon, 13, 1018 Maple St., Mt. Vernon, who was in Harrisburg during the past school year; third place winner, Ronnie Partain, 12, 821 West Church, and honorable mention, Reggie Blades, 13, 710 South Main.

The winning posters will be sent to Chicago where they will be judged in the state contests preceding NEPH week which is Oct. 2-8. The first prize in the state contest in Class I is a one-year scholarship to the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts; second is a $100 U. S. Savings Bond; third prize, $50 Savings Bond, and honorable mention, $25 U. S. Savings Bond.

In Class II the first prize is a $100 U. S. Savings Bond; second is a $50 U. S. Savings Bond; third, $25 U. S. Savings bond, and an honorable mention, a $25 U. S. Savings Bond.

Lumber Changes in 50 Years Forecast

CHICAGO — A lumber expert says that there should be a plentiful supply of timber 50 years from now, but the woods will be different.

L. J. Carr, president of the Forest Products Research Society, predicted that woods will be treated to make them fire-resistant.

Carr, who also is a committee chairman of the Western Pine Association, also said that in 2005 A. D. wood will be "densified" through a compress process, turning soft woods into hard.

Another improvement forecast in a magazine article (Popular Mechanics Magazine) is colored wood. In 50 years, he said, the wood of an entire tree will be strained by a process of radiation.

Carr said improved techniques will enable helicopters to pick up entire trees from the forests and take them to sawmills. There the sawyer of 2005 will study the outside of the tree by television and the inside by X-ray and cut the tree into lumber with powerful superheated rays. No sawdust, either.

Kendall Webb Resigns Here for Carmi Post

Kendall Webb, local veterans employment representative with the Illinois State Employment Service, 18-20 West Poplar, has resigned his position to accept employment with the Federal Civil Service commission in Carmi, effective Sept. 7, 1955.

Oil Line Troubles Checked from Air

TULSA, Okla. — The fuel that powers America's vehicles and other machines might never reach the users if it were not for the ever-watchful pilots who patrol the nation's oil pipelines.

The little-known profession of trouble-shooting for leaks in the country's oil supply is centered in Tulsa where the Airplane Pipe Line Patrol Co. was founded 10 years ago.

The firm, headed by Gleason Romans, was a pioneer in the patrolling industry. The practice has grown to the extent that all but two per cent of American pipelines are patrolled by air today.

The service allows oilmen to relieve their minds about the problem of constant supervision of the lines.

Romans' company serves 12 major oil companies and his pilots fly more than 1,250,000 miles a year from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico.

Flights are scheduled so outgoing pilots return on another company's route, eliminating wasted time Romans said. The Tulsa firm's volume of business enables Romans to base airplanes in many areas of the southwest and central portions.

The pilots not only observe and report any sources of trouble to the clients, but they also make emergency maintenance repairs before serious trouble develops.

Blind Veteran Pays Back Benefactors

BATAVIA, N. Y. — Ten years ago Charles R. Bishop, blind, by a sniper's bullet in the Pacific, returned home from the war.

The people of this upstate New York city opened their hearts to the returning veteran and collected $10,368 to set him up in business.

Bishop never used the money, but, employing his own resources, opened a newsstand in the city.

The city recently received a check for $12,000 from Bishop to be used for a community swimming pool. Bishop explained the extra money came from investments and said he wanted to "do something for the community that was so good to me."

Mid-America Jubilee to Be Held In St. Louis in '56

A major industrial, scientific, and agricultural exposition of regional scope called "Mid-America Jubilee" to be held in St. Louis for 30 days beginning September, 1956, on the southern portion of the riverfront area which will ultimately become the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial Park.

Plans call for the "Mid-America Jubilee" to be held in St. Louis for 30 days beginning September, 1956, on the southern portion of the riverfront area which will ultimately become the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial Park.

Try sprinkling ground nutmeg on vanilla ice cream for a new flavor treat.

Kaufmann also revealed that the Chamber's proposal for an annual Jubilee has been enthusiastically endorsed by Civic Progress, Inc., and by more than one hundred St. Louis-area civic and business leaders.

In addition, Kaufmann said that the Chamber has also established City Country Cavalcade, Inc., as a non-profit organization to formulate and execute plans for the annual exposition. This corporation will support the underwriting of a guarantee fund of $400,000 to finance the "Mid-America Jubilee."

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

by DREW PEARSON

JACK ANDERSON Says:
Agents Hunt Pentagon Phantoms;
Congressional Pay Boost
Doesn't Stop Payroll-Padding; Taber Called Worst Offender.

(Editors' Note — While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation his usual column will be written by members of his staff.

WASHINGTON. — Government agents are investigating a ghost that, it's whispered, haunts the Pentagon after dark. By all accounts it is a playful spook having itself a Halloween in the world's biggest, emptiest building.

As soon as the gloom settles, the Pentagon phantom starts flashing the telephone switchboard from empty rooms, tampering with wires behind locked panels and scaring scrubwomen out of their wits.

The question that worries agents is whether the ghost has security clearance. For it apparently has been prowling the darkened corridors of a restricted area.

Telephone operators will tell you about being flashed at night from empty rooms. Scrubwomen whisper about hearing eerie noises and having the lights turned off by unseen hands. Maintenance men swear the ghost has been gumming up the wires behind locked panels.

Once they spread grease around a locked air-conditioning unit in hopes of catching the culprit's fingerprints. But everyone knows a ghost doesn't leave fingerprints; next morning there wasn't a mark in the grease.

The whole eerie investigation was turned over to the General Services Administration, whose sleuths got interested when spooky shenanigans were reported in a security area.

PAYROLL PADDING RIFE
When congressmen boosted their own pay 50 per cent, it was supposed to stop payroll padding. Yet despite their new $22,500-a-year salary, more congressmen than ever are keeping relatives on the government payroll.

This column has examined federal vouchers and found a record 58 relatives on the House payroll.
The list doesn't include a host of in-laws whose different names make them tougher to trace.

Some relatives, of course, earn their government pay. Others don't do a lick of work for the taxpayers.

Worst offender ironically, is New York's Congressman John Taber, most miserly man ever to head the House Appropriations committee, who has probably chopped more people off the public payroll than anyone in Washington. He has a different policy, however, for his own family. He duns the taxpayers to pay his son, Charles, $532 a month, and a brother, Silas, $379 a month.

Highest paid congressional relative is James Kee, son of West Virginia's Congresswoman Elizabeth Kee. He collects $722 a month from the taxpayers, but works hard for his salary.

Here's the list, state by state of other congressmen who keep relatives on the payroll:

Arkansas — Oren Harris (D), whose brother, Willie, draws $672
a month; James Trimble (D), whose wife, Ruth, collects $403.
California — Gordon McDonough
(R), wife, Catherine, $581; John Phillips (R), wife, Dorothy, $486;

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS:

Cairo, with Its Fort Defiance, Was Important During Civil War

By JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University

The Civil War came very near to southern Illinois. Some who visit or pass through Cairo at the junction of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers give little thought to the fact that it was a most useful and used military post during that war. It could well be termed a springboard from which some of the most significant western military expeditions were launched.

From the very beginnings of the conflict each side realized the great advantages that control of this point would afford. The Confederacy promptly assembled force-es farther down the Mississippi in the spring of 1861, and began an unopposed advance northward toward the coveted point. A local company of militia met to decide upon a course of action. It was their decision to maintain an attitude of "armed neutrality." Cairo would evidently be an easy prize for the first armed forces to reach it.

The above briefly describes the situation on April 19, 1861, when Governor Yates of Illinois with full approval and even urging of the authorities at Washington asked Chicago to furnish militia to garrison Cairo. The troops requested were promptly assembled, placed on Illinois Central trains and started southward. The "Cairo Expedition" was on its way.

One company of the militia left the trains at Carbondale to guard the Illinois Central railway bridge four miles north of the town. The others continued south and were in possession of the point where the rivers joined on April 22, just three days after Governor Yates had issued the call for troops. This was none too soon for the Confederate forces were only a few miles away.

These first troops to reach Cairo were a motley group. Their uniforms were not uniform. They were armed with assorted weapons ranging from squirrel rifles to shotguns. Other equipment was somewhat nondescript. Their training had been meager. Part of the officers among them had scant knowledge of the military. Despite these obvious deficiencies they had secured a point vital to the Union cause. In the face of their presence and the difficulty of approach to the town the Confederate forces did not attempt to seize the point.
They remained in the vicinity for some time, however, as a constant threat.

Other Federal forces were dispatched to the camp. On May 10, 2700 troops had been assembled and Camp Defiance was definitely in existence. Patrols were set up along the levees on the Illinois side of both rivers. Fortifications were built along both rivers in the vicinity of the town and on the Missouri side of the Mississippi and artillery was placed to control the passage of steamboats on either river.

The principal and strongest of the forts built was the one located on the point of land where the rivers then joined. This point was then less than 100 yards from the place where the New York Central roundhouse is now located at the corner of Washington Avenue and First Street. This fort was first called Fort Prestiss for the general then commanding the camp.

The name was later changed to Fort Defiance. It was a rather massive earthen fortification and was well supplied with the heaviest artillery that they could secure. It gave the Union forces full control of the rivers at their junction.

It may be an interesting sidelight to know that since 1848 a lone cannon had been located on the place where the fort was erected and had been used on special occasions to salute approaching steamers. One sizable building also stood on the point. This was Arden's distillery that the troops wrecked to clear the space for the fort.

General Prentiss remained in command of the camp until September 4, 1861, when General U.
S. Grant took command. Grant lived at the St. Charles hotel, later to be known and to attain note as the Halliday House. A portion of the old hotel still stands a hundred yards or so north of the site of the fort occupied. The military offices of Grant were located on the second floor of a stone front building still standing on Ohio street about midway between Seventh and Eighth. It was at Cairo that Grant attracted added attention and indicated the aggressive qualities that carried him into military eminence.

Cairo's Ohio street alongside the river was once one of the busiest streets in America. It is now practically deserted and in ruins. Only at rare intervals may a large boat be seen moored at this river port that was at one time among the more important ones in the world.
There is no evidence of the gun-boat flotilla that lay alongside the river. A few landmarks and an occasional bronze plaque remain with the written records to indicate the town's importance as a mili-

Slightly Radioactive Shales in Illinois Cause Uranium Hunt

URBANA, Ill.—Public interest in potential sources of uranium in Illinois has centered in the state's dark gray or black shales because many of them are slightly radioactive, according to Dr. John C. Frye, chief of the Illinois State Geological Survey.

The Survey, a division of the state Department of Registration and Education, recently completed a study of some 175 samples of dark gray and black shales from 44 Illinois counties.

The highest "equivalent uranium value" of any sample was 0.017% (17-1000 of 1%). The uranium oxide content of the 15 best samples ranged between 0.001% (1-1000 of 1%) and 0.014% (14-1000 of 1%). Phosphatic nodules and bands which are scattered sparsely thru some of the black shales gave a higher percentage value of equivalent uranium than the shales in which they occur. The highest uranium oxide content of the phosphatic samples studied was 0.075% (75-1000 of 1%).

None of the samples tested appear to meet the requirements for the minimum grade of uranium ore on which the Atomic Energy Commission has published prices. The minimum specified is 0.1% (1-10 of 1%) uranium oxide.

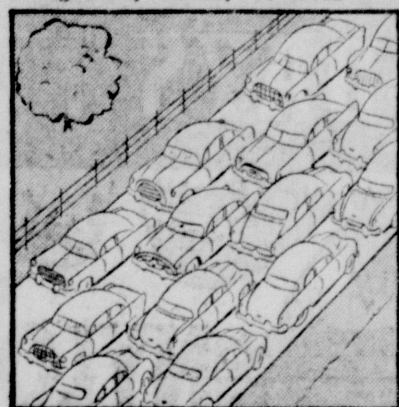

Dr. Frye announced that copies of a report are being placed for public inspection in the Survey's library and map files. The report, "Uranium in Illinois Black Shales," by M. E. Ostrom, M. E. Hopkins, W. A. White and L. D. McVicker, is to be published within the next few months and will then be available to residents of Illinois upon request.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

With another big Labor Day holiday weekend approaching us, the nation is again faced with the sad, horrifying statistics which tell us how many lives will be lost over the holiday weekend. From Friday evening until Monday night, millions of vehicles will clog the state's highways loaded with millions of persons going to or returning from resorts, visits with friends and family and those just taking a holiday drive.

Everyone, it will seem, will be in a big hurry. Many of them will merely be hurrying to their deaths. Long trips will make a number of drivers tired and irritated to a point where they will not heed the rules of the road. It will be necessary for holiday drivers to be especially cautious to avoid accidents, injuries and deaths. Caution and courtesy will not cost one cent but they will be extremely valuable in avoiding disaster.

This is one time of the year when the old saying of "let the other fellow do it" should be followed. If the "other fellow" wants to travel at excessive speeds, drive recklessly and violate traffic laws in general, let him. But, as for YOU, be cautious. On Tuesday he may be just a statistic in a holiday death toll, but you won't.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

POISED POSE—There's an annual Labor Day beauty contest at Ocean Park, Calif., and if all the contestants are anything like 19-year-old Sandra Constance, of Torrance, Calif., the judges are going to have to do some head-scratching.

Colleges Advised On Space Problems

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Many college educators worried about getting space for expected heavy classes in the next few years should take lessons in how to utilize the space they have, a California educator says.

Donavon Smith said there are very few colleges in the country that could not stretch their present facilities to accommodate more students.

"If classrooms were used at a full capacity schedule, they would be filled eight hours a day for all week days," he said. He predicted that most building by colleges in the years ahead will emphasize expansion of non-classroom facilities.

Smith is working on a survey of nine of the Big Ten universities, part of which concerns space utilization.

Iowa produces most of the popcorn supply of the United States, with about 50 million bushels annually.

Wisconsin Leads in Vegetable Packing

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Wisconsin has consistently led the nation in packing vegetables for market, the Wisconsin Canner's Association reports, with some 30,000 acres in gardens which produce one-fifth of the nation's pack.

The Wisconsin pack totals almost as much as is produced in the rest of the world outside the United States. The state is the largest producer in this country of canned peas, sweet corn, beets and carrots. In sauerkraut and cucumber pickles, it ranks second.

In all, about $100,000,000 worth of canned goods are packed in Wisconsin annually. Salaries and wages to those who work in the industry amount to $30,000,000 yearly and the number of persons employed ranges from 40,000 in the season to 5,000 year-around.

Who Rides With Wyatt

by Will Henry

THE STORY: Enforcement of Wyatt Earp's "no-gun" rule in Tombstone has resulted in the shooting of Ferd Wagner, who is Wyatt's acting deputy. After the shooting, Wyatt enters the Crystal Palace Saloon and drags out the bad boys single-handed. Included in the bag was Wyatt's one-time friend Johnny Ringo.

For 48 hours he held Curly Bill and his bunch in the Tombstone hoosegow under a charge of carrying concealed weapons. "For the time being," he'd added, in a scum-ice way they didn't like a little bit. That "time being" had to do with Ferd Wagner.

The Fargo agent hung on all day Saturday, the second day; then gave up and went down with the sun that night. He did it like the gentleman he was, too, sending for Wyatt and two witnesses and making a statement that the shooting had been an accident and his own fault. He had Mayor Clum write it out and he signed it. Wyatt holding him up so's he could make it.

Wyatt went back over to the jail. He stalked through the front office and into the cell block. Curly and a couple of others were playing Three-toed Pete with the jail deck and a stack of burnt matches for money.

"Ferd just died, Curly," Wyatt nodded. "He said it was an accident. I'm asking the court to call it murder."

It hit the big outlaw hard, a blind man could see that. "I'm right sorry to hear Ferd's gone, Wyatt," he held his head down, along with his words. "Likely you know I ain't funning when I say it."

"I'll tell that to his wife and those three kids of his up to Benson," replied Wyatt. "Maybe they can pay the bills and live off the fact you're sorry."

Curly didn't answer. "I'm holding all of you," Wyatt told them slowly. "Judge Cartwright is sitting a circuit session up to Benson next week. Monday morning we'll just hop the stage and run up there for a little batch of arraignments. Tomorrow being Sunday, you got some time to think about what you're going to say to Ferd's widow. You'll see her in court."

"You can't hold the rest of us, legal!" Ike Clanton snarled. "You'd best get Sid Skidmore over here and let us talk to him, or you're apt to be answering some charges your ownself!"

Wyatt knew all about Mr. Sidney Skidmore. He was the leading dim light of the nest of law-sharps hanging out their shingles along Fourth and Toughnut Street, around the corner from the new courthouse.

"Mr. Skidmore's already been here," he said quietly to Ike. "We had a nice long talk about the law. He agreed with you."

Ringo cracked. "Wyatt, lemme out! I got to talk to you. I got to tell you something."

Wyatt let Ringo out, followed him back into the front office. "All right, kid, say it short."

Ringo glanced nervously toward the cellblock, dropped his voice to a mutter.

"Wyatt, this ain't my mess and you know it. I didn't rightly have nothing to do with your deputy getting himself killed. I don't see you've any call to tie me into it, at all."

"You come out to ask for special treatment, boy?"

"I bin an idiot. It's the first time I bin sober enough to hit a balloon with a ballbat, since I hit town. So, I reckon you know it's me. Talking now, and not the whiskey."

"I'm listening."

"Wyatt, I'm sorry I turned on you and I swear I won't do it again and I want that star you offered me the other day!"

The minutes ticked off long and slow. He thought Wyatt never would leave off tugging at his mustache and staring at the floor in that empty-eyed, far-off way of his.

"A man fools me once," he said slowly, "shame on him. He fools me twice, shame on me. It's an old saying they got up in the border country, kid. You've fooled me once, boy. I'm afraid the rest of it comes out pretty simple."

Ringo felt the bitter end that was in it and hadn't been said. "Where does that leave us then?" he muttered.

Wyatt's pale eyes held on Ringo, deep and still as winter-cold water in a desert tank when the wind has died at sundown.

"It leaves you," he said softly, "facing a hanging charge as accessory to the murder of Ferd Wagner."

At 6 p. m., Sunday night, the day stage from Benson and Tucson rolled up in front of the O. K. Stable. At 6:01 Johnny Behan got down out of it and headed up Allen for the Epitaph office, where Editor Clum's light was still burning in the front window. At 6:05, Clum was looking at the legal paper Behan shoved across his desk.

40-Year-Old Lunch Is Intact But Inedible

MILWAUKEE AP—Back in 1915 a workman left his lunch in a house he was helping build. The lunch was found recently when plumbers had to cut into a wall to make repairs. They found a sandwich, wrapped in a newspaper dated Sept. 7, 1915. That is the year the home was built. The sandwich inside was intact, rye bread, crust and all. The filling had blackened too much to tell what it was. It was hard as a rock.

Niagara Falls Has Carved Warning

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. AP—There's a quarter-century-old landmark at Niagara Falls that few people get to see. But for those that do, it serves as a warning.

Down near the bottom of the Niagara gorge's steep wall, it stands as a mute memorial to one who dared attempt to swim across the treacherous waters to the Canadian shore.

Carved into a large rock are these words:

"Tom Cardinal drowned trying to swim river, July, 1939."

According to newspaper files, the 15-year-old boy—considered a strong swimmer—tried but failed to churn his way through the roiling waters and was carried to his death in the Whirlpool Rapids. Friends of the youth were believed to have carved the inscription as a warning to others who frequented the spot not to attempt the hazardous undertaking.

Foresee Continued Easing Of Labor-Industry Tensions

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—American labor prospects for the year ahead are now regarded as favoring increased stability.

The basic steel contract and northern coal industry contracts were negotiated without a strike.

CIO Electrical Workers asked General Electric for a guaranteed annual wage. They settled instead for a five-year contract with 32 "better living" fringe benefits plus a 3 per cent annual wage increase. But the "GAW" question may be opened later.

With these pattern-setting contracts renegotiated peacefully, the big job for the remainder of the year is to extend their provisions to other companies. Most of these contracts are for two years or more. The number of contracts expiring in 1956 will therefore be much lower than this year. This makes for greater stability in labor relations.

THESE BIG-INDUSTRY contracts always make the most news. But in their quieter, local contract negotiations, American Federation of Labor's new contracts have been setting some different patterns.

The biggest change, according to AFL's research department, is the trend towards a shorter work week. One worker in six is now on a standard work week of less than 40 hours. Development of the 35 to 37 1/2 hour work week has not been limited to any one area. It is more common in nonmanufacturing than in manufacturing industries.

Over the long haul, AFL officials expect the shorter work week to be the answer to the replacement of men by machines in technological advances, or automation.

AFL TRUCKERS HAVE WON wage increases and hours reduction in a number of regional and state-wide contracts. In the New England contract, truckers outside the Boston metropolitan area were given the Boston scale.

This trend towards a bargaining, in place of the local contracts which AFL craft unions have traditionally negotiated, may be something to watch.

In the AFL building trades, Department of Labor reports wages increased by an average of 3.3 per cent, equal to nine cents an hour, during the year ending July 1. This puts the building trade's average range from $2.04 an hour for common labor to $3.47 for bricklayers, with a top of $3.85.

Railway operating brotherhoods claim their most significant gain of the year was in initial agreements for pay differentials based on the number of cars in freight trains. For fewer than 81 cars, the pay increase is 20 cents a day. For 165 cars, $1.30.

Nonoperating brotherhoods' principal victory in the L. & N. strike was a provision which requires the road to pay all health and welfare benefits. This marks the start of a drive to end the present system of having employer and employee share the cost of these benefits.

FRINGE BENEFITS LIKE PENSIONS, paid vacations, health and welfare benefits have been increasing steadily. The trend is toward further increases, varying from company to company with no fixed pattern.

One new trend won by the auto workers is for a seventh paid holiday each year, made up of two half holidays on Christmas and New Year's Eve. Vacations of more than two weeks for old employees are increasing.

To give salaried employees extra fringe benefits, General Motors is expected to approve a savings-stock purchase plan. It is similar to the Ford plan which the auto workers turned down.

DuPont has offered such a plan to all its employees who, where organized, are largely in independent unions. Under this plan employees may authorize payroll deductions of $12.50 to $37.50 a month to buy U. S. savings bonds. For every dollar the employee puts towards the purchase of DuPont stock.
